Training - now!

Dual education and training is a key component of Germany's economic performance. Every year over 500,000 trainees are recruited into more than 300 occupations. The varied nature of dual education and training is reflected in the wide variety of questions connected with it: How does dual education and training work? How can my company participate in dual education and training? Who will actually help me to search for a training place or to find a suitable trainee? How can I support my children with vocational orientation?

As the KAUSA service centre, we are your local contact office. We offer counselling on dual training, especially to self-employed workers, young people and parents from migrant backgrounds as well as young refugees. Our aim is to support you in exploiting your opportunities in the vocational education and training system.

We work together with our network partners of vocational education and training, business, schools, and migrant organisations in your region.

KAUSA

The aims of the national coordination office for training and migration are to recruit more self-employed workers from migrant backgrounds into vocational training, to increase participation in education and training of young people from migrant backgrounds and to inform their parents about vocational education and training. Since 2016, for young refugees, information about the dual system has been provided and education and training opportunities have been created.
